

WALL STREET.

WALL STREET, NOV. 5, 1871.

The week in mercantile circles has been without important feature. Trade has been rather duller than anticipated, and prices of leading staples have not shown much movement. A little excitement in the petroleum trade followed the report of a panic at the wells and prices were lower.

THE MONEY MARKET.

In Wall street call loans have been readily accessible at the legal rate of interest, which in some instances were paid in gold. But the market seemed to follow a daily fluctuation towards lower rates each afternoon before the banks closed, so that while seven per cent was generally the rate at the Board, the sidewalk rate almost invariably went up to five per cent. In explanation of this, it has been alleged that the cliques operating on the "bull" side paid the full legal rate in the morning and loaned the money at lower figures in the afternoon. On the other hand, there were doubtless the usual number of lenders, who, seeing money seven per cent early in the day, calculated it would be worth not less in the closing hours of business, but being disappointed at the inactivity of the demand for their money, they sold the stock rather than have them go over unemployed.

Time loans, however, show stringency, whether upon pledge of collateral or in the shape of negotiable paper. The full legal interest and a commission of 1 1/2 per cent are demanded for the former, while the time ranges from 90 to 95 days, while prime paper may be easily had at a discount of one per cent a month. The strictly "well-edged" grades are not stable at less than 9 1/2 to 10 per cent.

Foreign exchange was unsettled by the varying considerations exacted for the use of gold in the delivery of the gold market, and after considerable fluctuation left off on the basis of 10 1/2 to 10 3/4 per cent bankers' sixty day sterling and 10 1/2 to 10 3/4 per cent sight bills.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The week on the Stock Exchange offered little in the way of variety or variety. The outside interest was not completely detached, and so indifferent as to the situation of the market that business was restricted, so much so at times, that complete stagnation prevailed. The active speculative interest is on the "bull" side, and the parties involved are so well known and their operations so visible that they are suffered to do as they wish without let or hindrance. Hence they have "walked" the street for little profits from day to day, meeting little opposition and eliciting no little help. It is the season of the year when the false outside interest is usually taken away from Wall street to occupation with mercantile and other pursuits. Robbed of this element of business, and indifferent to the one-sided clique element that now controls, the market readily affords an explanation of the dulness. The long mooted lease of the Pittsburgh Railroad has been at length consummated, but the stock which gave great satisfaction to the stockholders, whose names were on the list, has been sold for the great corporation in exchange for "a market" for the stock held by a clique, whose loss was being sought to be made up, and who, to get rid of it, had to accept even a less rate of interest under the lease than they profess to have been earning for a year or two past. Early in the week there was a flurry and a sudden decline in Lake Shore, resulting from some confusion in the matter of transfers against the scrip dividend, and this incident occasioned general depression, but the market next day resumed its former (and dulness) and steadily improved up to the close. Lake Shore will be quoted at the privilege of subscribing to the stock after three o'clock on Monday. The understanding so far as the scrip will be dealt in as a separate security until its conversion into stock.

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

Government bonds were strong on the demand for the redemption of the November coupons, but on the failure of an attempted "corner" in the 4 1/2 per cent coupon, the market lost its firmness toward the close, particularly as the 4 1/2 per cent coupon was showing a tendency. The following were the closing prices Saturday—United States currency notes, 11 1/2 to 11 3/4; do. do. 1871, registered, 11 1/2 to 11 3/4; do. do. 1872, coupon, 11 1/2 to 11 3/4; do. do. 1873, coupon, 11 1/2 to 11 3/4;
